Our purpose is to Ensure High Levels of Learning for ALL Students

Superintendent's Message

As the 2023-24 school year comes to a close, I want to celebrate all that has been accomplished in and around our schools. We are seeing student achievement thrive in both academics, athletics and co-curricular activities. We were honored to receive the Indiana Department of Education award for 95% pass rate on I-Read 3 exams last school year. We also had several athletic teams and individual students compete at sectionals, regionals and state. And our winter indoor ensemble and show choir made the state finals this winter. Additionally, we have been furthering our College and Career Readiness program with the purpose of helping students prepare for life after graduation. Overall, we are seeing more opportunities for students to learn and grow in all areas. This newsletter will cover all these stories and more.

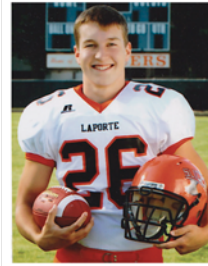

Additionally, on behalf of the School Board of Trustees, administration, staff and community, I would like to congratulate our soon to be 2024 graduates for their resilience and perseverance. All that you have learned and accomplished here at NPUSC will serve you well into the future. We wish you all the best!

NPUSC Named Indiana's First Heart Safe Corporation!

With the final elementary school receiving the Heart Safe School Designation through Project ADAM, NPUSC is now the first corporation in the entire state of Indiana to receive the Heart Safe Corporation Designation. This designation has been in the works for the past few years. It is largely due to the efforts of NPUSC's HOSA-Future Health Professionals which focuses on helping schools and communities be prepared for cardiac emergencies, the leading cause of death of students at school. In 2021, NPUSC was the first school in the entire state of Indiana to be named a Project ADAM Heart Safe School. Since then, each of NPUSC's schools have followed suit.

Tonya Aerts, PLTW Biomedical Science Teacher and NPUSC HOSA Advisor, has led the charge. She is passionate about educating and empowering others to receive training and spread awareness. She donates much of her time outside of school hours to instruct student athletic teams about knowing the signs of cardiac arrest, explaining the steps to take in order to save a life and even doing practice drills. This year alone, 175 NPUSC students have received CPR certification, a project supported by Play for Jake Foundation. Additionally, more AEDs have been made available on campus, like for athletic trainers and student senate.

It's all about helping people. For more information, please like and follow the NPUSC HOSA-Future Health Professionals Facebook page at: www.facebook.com/NPHOSA #JAM

She finished 12th in the state.

Elementary Schools Receive New Playgrounds

All three of New Prairie's elementary schools are proud owners of brand new playgrounds! Each has bright, beautiful equipment donning school colors. The students are thoroughly enjoying the new pieces, exploring and learning about safety as they play. Some of the new pieces include climbers, spinners, obstacles courses and multiple slides.

The Importance of Online Safety

More and more young people have access to unfiltered social media. While on the surface this might seem like a fun way to stay connected with friends and share funny videos, the internet can actually be a very dangerous place. This is especially true for young, developing minds that might not have the maturity to know when something is unsafe or unwise. Online safety is a must.

Seeing the need, NPMS held a Smart Social family night in March with the purpose of educating parents on how to navigate their child's social media presence and accounts. This included educating parents about social media, creating boundaries around their child's use of social media and screen time and what to look for to keep their kids safe as they navigate a world that is increasingly open via social media platforms and the internet. If you missed this event, please don't miss out on downloading the Smart Social App!

OLIVE AND ROLLING PRAIRIE CELEBRATE I-READ 3 EXAMS AWARD

Each year, third grade students in the state of Indiana are administered the IREAD-3 test which measures foundational reading skills. For the first time, the state honored schools that met the 95% literacy goal, a benchmark they hope for all Indiana schools to reach by 2027.

This year, both Olive and Rolling Prairie elementary schools were recognized for achieving a pass rate of 95% or higher. Olive Township Principal Tara Bush is proud of her school. She says, "Although this is the first time the state has publicly celebrated this accomplishment, Olive has scored above 95% since 2017. We are extremely proud of this, as we know how important it is for students to be reading on level by the end of third grade."

Rolling Prairie Principal Dr. Pamela Moore also shared, "We are honored and proud to be part of the first group of schools to be recognized for meeting the state's 95% literacy goal." These schools are two of 241 total Indiana schools to reach this goal.

Olive celebrated by acknowledging the work of the team of administrators, teachers, paraprofessionals and more. Principal Bush added, "It takes everyone to make this happen. Although it is our norm and has become expected, the work the entire staff puts into ensuring high levels of learning for all is constantly recognized."

Additionally, she truly believes this is an example of increased levels of learning achieved through the work of our Professional Learning Communities."

Rolling Prairie also celebrated through coming together as an entire school at the end of their third nine weeks to celebrate the students' growth and achievement. Dr. Moore also personally thanked all the staff who assisted the school in reaching this goal. She shared, "It takes a team approach, all members of our school community, to ensure all of our students are successful."

Principals Bush and Dr. Moore also attended the celebration held at the Indiana State House to receive their IREAD-3 awards from Dr. Katie Jenner, Secretary of Education.
